Jet-Lube Inc. Relocates its Houston, Texas Manufacturing Plant to a State-of-the-Art Facility in Rockwall, Texas

New Headquarters, Manufacturing & Distribution Location

Rockwall, Texas. June 17, 2016 – Jet-Lube Inc., a CSW Industrials Company, and leading manufacturer of specialty chemical products announces its headquarters relocation to Rockwall, Texas. Jet-Lube plans to consolidate and combine forces with Whitmore, a specialty chemicals CSW Industrials Company.

“This was a strategic move on behalf of our company” says Jet-Lube Vice President of Sales, Tom Blake. “We wanted a central location with a state-of-the-art facility that would allow us to increase production and expedite delivery across our customer base.”

For more than sixty-seven years, Jet-Lube’s products have set performance standards in a wide variety of industries. This facility will support development of the technology-driven chemical and lubricant solutions Jet-Lube offers to its global clientele.

Craig Foster, Sr. Vice President of Specialty Chemicals for CSW Industrials, Inc., lends his praise to the initiative: “We’re extremely excited about the steps taken with the Jet-Lube integration to meet customer demand in a highly demanding market. The Rockwall facility is positioned to drive growth and continue delivering the exceptional customer satisfaction that Jet-Lube is known for.”
